OLD CHARLIE.
P. T. Barnum Drives a Sharp Horse-Trade With a Neighbor.

By Telegram to the Post-Dispatch.
BRIDGEPORT, Conn., September 1.—Col. J. C. Tallman resides on Park avenue but a short distance from "Walden," the home of P. T. Barnum. Col. Tallman is passionately fond of a good horse and generally has from twenty to thirty in his stables. The thrice of showmen is also fond of a good horse. Besides his coach horses he owns and usually drives a good strong-going horse. Despite his 71 years the great showman handles the ribbons with a firm hand and loves to be first in the race. Lately he has been driving a high-spirited bay horse with black points, a horse of much style, great promise, but no particular performance. Another treasure of P. T. Barnum is his coachman. He goes by the name of "Trusty Hugh." He is a reliable man, and has been a faithful employee of Barnum for many years. Col. Tallman has been driving a fine black horse around Seaside Park in full view of Barnum's veranda, which overlooks the park and Long Island Sound. Last Saturday afternoon Trusty Hugh drove up to Tallman's stables and asked to see his black horse. He looked the animal over, harnessed him up, drove him up and down, and then asked Tallman "what he thought of him." The old gent's fine big bay horse. Tallman replied he would trade for $300 to boot.

Tallman said: "No sir." Then said Trusty Hugh: "Why don't you go down to the house and see the old gent? I guess you and he can trade."

Tallman inquired at which hour would be the most convenient. Trusty Hugh replied: "Well," said Trusty Hugh, "you see, the old gent goes to the house at 8 o'clock in the morning. He usually gets out at a quarter before 12. It takes him about twenty minutes to get down to the house. I suppose you call about half past 12. He will be feeling pretty good and ready about then."

"All right," said Tallman: "I will be there." At the appointed hour Tallman found the great showman in the house, sitting by a fire of cigarettes, the collection of a lifetime. The old gent looked blandly and a little talk around the bush, interspersed with personal allusions, Barnum opened negotiations by offering the Colonel $100 and his bay horse for the black one. The Colonel said: "You with the bay horse, less than $300. Thereupon the great moral showman sat down at his desk and drew out a check for $200 payable to order of Col. Tallman.

"You know, Colonel," said he, "that if a man trades horses, he ought to be able to get a good one. We'll therefore call this a Saturday trade. You see I have the check and you have the horse. I will call on Sunday morning at 8 o'clock. Then turning to Trusty Hugh, Barnum continued: "Hugh, you take Old Charlie up to the house and tell him there and bring back my new black horse right off, for I want to take a ride after I have had my after-dinner nap."

At 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon Old Charlie was running out to Col. Tallman's stable, and at the same hour Trusty Hugh was sitting in a harness to the new black horse in the barn at Walden. On Monday afternoon Col. Tallman sold Old Charlie to Dr. Martin, one of the leading physicians of the city. The grand old horse will in future be used to haul the physician up to the front doors of the first families.

Advice to Consumptives.
On the appearance of the first symptoms—such as general debility, loss of appetite, pallor, cough, etc., followed by night sweats and cough—prompt measures for relief should be taken. Consumption is a curable disease, and the lungs—liberators of the blood from acid, scrofula, or blood purifier and strength-giver—superior to cod liver oil as a nutritive, and unsurpassed as a pectoral. For weak lungs, spitting of blood, and kindred affections, it has no equal. Sold by druggists the world over. For Dr. Pierce's treatise on consumption, send 10 cents in stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, 603 Main street, Buffalo, N. Y.

FORMALLY OPENED.
Ivens & Son's Great Works at Decatur, Ala.—

By Telegram to the Post-Dispatch.
DECATUR, Ala., September 1.—The great foundry and machine works of Ivens & Son, located here, were formally opened yesterday by running a block of iron for castings for the Morse Cotton Compress being erected here. The main building of the machine and foundry works is 200 feet long by 180 feet wide.

Cross, Head & Montgomery advertise for 800 acres to clear the ground for the Louisville & Nashville Car-bone and to prepare fifty-seven acres of land for these shops.

Barge-building on the Tennessee River at Decatur is now under way in preparation for the opening of the Muscle Shoals in December next. The Oak Extract Company are building barges and will buy or build a steamboat for their own use.

To the Exposition Exhibitors.
You are respectfully informed that I have on hand and make to order all kinds of vines, hanging-baskets, bouquets, and jardiniere for decorating purposes, which I am selling very cheap; hanging-baskets selling from $2 to $8. It is to your interest to examine the goods and prices I offer before ordering, and I hope you will give me the preference as being a St. Louis manufacturer.

Mrs. Chas. Weston Dead.
News has been received in this city of the death in the Catskill mountains recently of Mrs. Chas. Weston, a well-known resident of this city. Mrs. Weston was formerly the wife of Capt. Thurgood, a well-known river man, and on his death she married Chas. F. Warner, then manager of the Southern Hotel. He died not long after the marriage. Mrs. Weston was quite wealthy. She leaves one son, Robert Thurgood.

MARRIAGE OF MR. L. L. SCHOEN AND MISS MILLIE SALE THIS AFTERNOON.

The Reception and Dinner at the Harmonie Club This Evening—Guests From Afar—The Toilettes—Society Notes, Personal and Gossip.

At 5:30 o'clock this afternoon, Mr. Isaac L. Schoen, the well known musician will be married to Miss Millie Sale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mendelsohn, at the Harmonie Club. The ceremony will be performed at the synagogue, corner of Pine and Sixteenth streets, the brother of the bride, Rabbi S. Sale officiating. The temple will be elaborately decorated with plants and cut flowers, and the bride couple will stand beneath a marriage veil formed of white roses and carnations. Prof. Epstein, at the organ, will play Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" for the cortege entering the church. It will be followed by the "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin, sung by Mrs. Peabody, Mrs. Hardy and Mr. Hein. After the ceremony the bride party will repair to the Harmonie Club-house, where an elaborate dinner, with covers laid for fifty guests, all of them relatives of the bride and groom will be served, lasting until 9 o'clock. From 9 until 12 there will be a reception to the guests of the bride and groom, with dancing and supper at 12. The club-house has also been elaborately decorated with plants and cut flowers.

A good many friends from a distance have arrived to attend the wedding, among them Mrs. Newburger and Miss Magie Keenan of Louisville, and Miss Flora Joseph of Chicago. The bride, a pretty, graceful brunette, will wear a wedding dress of white satin, trimmed with a long princess train, falling in deep folds from her shoulders, and finished with a train of lace. The tablier is richly draped with white chintilly lace, the square-cut corsage filled with the same lace, which also finishes the sleeves. Over all she wears a long white veil, trimmed with hair by pearls. She will also wear in her hair natural flowers—sweet white lilies—which will also form the bride's bouquet. Miss Isaac Sale, the mother of the bride, will wear a dress of black and white, with a train of thread lace; corsage mounted with duchess lace and diamonds.

Miss Lucie Sale, the sister of the bride, will wear a green cashmere, combined with white lace and diamonds. The bridesmaids will wear a large corsage of Marchal Niel roses.

Mrs. Annie Sale will wear a toilette of pale blue silk, with Grecian draperies looped with deep points, round and filled with illusion in the same shade; no sleeves; corsage bouquet of La France roses.

Mrs. Morris Sale will wear white cashmere, adorned with white moire, made dancing length, with full puffs at the back; corsage cut square and filled with white lace. The bridesmaids will wear a large corsage bouquet of Marchal Niel roses.

Mrs. Isaac Lieber, black gown grain, with black, richly embroidered in jet; corsage high, with full puffs at the back. Mrs. Joe Newburger, seal brown faille, with full train; corsage mounted with duchess lace and pink roses.

Miss Hannah Schell, sister of the groom, will wear pale blue crepe, made with Grecian draperies, and corsage decollete filled with pale blue tulle, no sleeves; corsage bouquet of La France roses.

Miss Margie Keenan of Louisville, a pretty dress of white moire, with white lace, and corsage mounted with white lace. Mrs. and Mrs. Schoen will leave to-morrow morning for Chicago, and there they will take the boat for the West. They will be absent about two weeks on their bridal tour.

DASTARDLY WORK.
Attempt to Wreck a Passenger Train on the New York, September 1.—Henry Villard is again becoming a conspicuous figure in Wall street. His career is one of startling changes. Once a newspaper correspondent, a few years later he became one of the most conspicuous financiers in America. He managed the largest and most successful "blind pool" in the history of Wall street. He raised the Oregon Railway & Navigation Company into prominence and he drove the golden spike that completed the Northern Pacific Road. His name still attaches to those properties. President of four powerful corporations. Early in 1884, however, disaster overtook him. He was compelled to resign the Presidency of the Northern Pacific and of the other companies. His magnificent palace on Fifth Avenue, the Cathedral passed into the hands of his creditors and Mr. Villard returned to his native country.

A few months ago he again landed in New York and took small offices in the Mills Building. It was announced that he was acting as the agent of German capitalists and investors. Yesterday he completed one of the biggest transactions that has recently taken place in the street. He purchased for the syndicate he represented $2,000,000 worth of securities owned by the Oregon Transcontinental Company, of which he was formerly President, but which is now under the direction of Elmer Smith. It is declared that Oregon Transcontinental has been hard pressed for money of late. It had loans to meet and this morning the consequence. This sale included $1,000,000 of Oregon Navigation bonds and $1,000,000 Oregon Navigation stock and an option on $1,000,000 additional Oregon Navigation stock. It is understood that this sale carries with it the agreement that Villard is to have a seat in the directory and possibly to succeed Smith as President, and many interested parties are watching the transaction with interest. The company still holds a controlling interest in the Oregon Navigation.

HE STOOD HIGH.
The Deceased Defunct Secretary of a Building Association.
HUDSON, Wis., September 1.—The officers of the Hudson Building and Loan Association have just discovered a shortage of nearly $10,000 in the accounts of the late T. H. Harvey, who was Secretary of the association. The books and papers are in bad shape, and it will be some time before the real situation can be determined. As the stockholders are for the most part working people, clerks, teachers and others, who secured their shares by small monthly payments, the loss will be a serious one. The association has a large number of members and a large amount of business during its lifetime.
